SHEPHERDS RECEIVE GOOD NEWS

"That night some shepherds were in the fields outside the village, guarding their flocks of sheep. Suddenly an angel appeared among them, and the landscape shone bright with the glory of the Lord. They were badly frightened, but the angel reassured them.

'Don't be afraid!' he said. 'I bring you the most joyful news ever announced, and it is for everyone! The Savior–yes, the Messiah, the Lord–has been born tonight in Bethlehem! How will you recognize him? You will find a baby wrapped in a blanket, lying in a manger!'

Suddenly, the angel was joined by a vast host of others–the armies of heaven–praising God:

'Glory to God in the highest heaven,' they sang, 'and peace on earth for all those pleasing him.'

When this great army of angels had returned again to heaven, the shepherds said to each other, 'Come on! Let's go to Bethlehem! Let's see this wonderful thing that has happened, which the Lord has told us about.'

They ran to the village and found their way to Mary and Joseph. And there was the baby, lying in the manger." (Luke 2:8-16)

ACS Programs For Rehabilitation

"Every two minutes someone dies of cancer in this country. In Virginia, the annual toll is over 6,800 men, women and children. In addition, each year there are an estimated 13,000 new cancer cases."

These statistics are taken from the 1972-1973 Annual Report of the American Cancer Society, Virginia Division, which goes on to point out that the picture is "Not all grim." According to the recently distributed Report, "There are over 35,750 Virginians who are alive today, cured of cancer. Thousands of other cancer victims have had their lives made more comfortable because of new and improved treatment techniques, while rehabilitation programs have helped hundreds of others return to normal living."

Over 65,000 volunteers are assisting with the Society's many programs and activities in Virginia, some of which are covered in the Annual Report. Under Service and Rehabilitation programs, the Report explains that "Improving the 'quality of survival' for Virginia's estimated 19,929 cancer patients is a primary goal of the Society." During the past year assistance was provided to over 6,000 of these patients in the form of gift and loan items, transportation to treatment centers, information and referrals and rehabilitation services. A total of 977 mastectomy patients received assistance through the Society's Reach to Recovery rehabilitation service for women who have had breast surgery. Seven Lost Chord Clubs in the state provided assistance in speaking to 160 laryngectomy patients who lost their voices to cancer. The Ostomy Rehabilitation program, which started in 1970, now has 56 trained volunteers who visited 165 ostomy patients during the past year to provide counseling and encouragement.

Other activities during the year included five Mouth Cancer Detection Clinics which screened 3,900 persons. A total of 413 persons were examined at five Skin Cancer Detection Clinics held in rural areas. Combined Skin and Mouth Cancer Detection Clinics reached 1,622 additional persons. A Lung Cancer Detection Clinic, held as a pilot project in Winchester and aimed at men over 40 who were heavy smokers, saw 339 men.

A "faculty" of 62 physicians spoke on the current status of clinical cancer to 580 practicing physicians from county medical societies, hospital staffs and similar groups as part of a continuing education program developed by the Society this year.

Public Education activities reached a total of 46,478 adults and 119,121 youths. One of the school activities was a cooperative program with the Virginia Academy of Family Physicians to provide Breast Self-Examination programs for 11th and 12th grade girls and their mothers.

A major activity during the past year was the development of a Uterine Cancer Task Force program to eliminate uterine cancer by encouraging and making it possible for every woman 20 and over to have a Pap test by 1976. In Virginia there are an estimated 698,184 women who have never had a Pap test.

In Virginia, according to the Report, National Research and Clinical Investigation Grants currently in effect total $549,940. Ten grants, totaling $473,762 were awarded to the University of Virginia in Charlottesville and two, totaling $76,178, were awarded to the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond.

The financial section of the Report listed the Society's total receipts from the 1973 educational and fund-raising Crusade as $1,682,406. This was an increase of $36,276 over the 1972 Crusade receipts of $1,646,130. Legacy income totaled $157,055 and Memorial contributions totaled $210,845.

Search On For Holders Unclaimed Government Bonds

Many veterans of World War II will remember purchasing U. S. Savings Bonds through allotment procedures under which a small portion of their military pay was automatically deducted to purchase savings bonds to help finance the war effort. Recent information from the General Accounting Office indicated that 706,000 of these bonds with a face value of about $50 million have never been claimed. The total of ex-GIs involved is 188,000. Many bond owners have been determined by checking VA records and other means.

However, all veterans of World War II are being called upon to check their memories to determine if they may have purchased U. S. Savings Bonds and over the years forgotten all about it.

Further information on unclaimed U. S. Savings Bonds may be obtained by contacting the Treasury Department, Washington, D. C. or the nearest Federal Reserve Bank.
